DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-18, drawn to an anastomotic tool, classified in class 606, subclass 153.
- II. Claims 19-21, drawn to a tissue preparation device, classified in class 606, subclass 1.
- III. Claims 22-23, drawn to a method of performing an anastomosis, classified in class 606, subclass 151.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

1. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because in claim 2 terminology "tissue preparation device" does not necessarily require the structure claimed in claim 19. The subcombination has separate utility such as measuring various distances related to the body, such as the size of a trocar wound or the diameter of the large intestine. The subcombination could be used for measuring any distance that the user wanted to measure.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. The burden is established because although one might expect the searches to overlap, there is no reason for the searches to be coextensive.

2. Inventions III and I are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process can be practiced by another apparatus, such as basic forceps in combination with suturing thread.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group III is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. The burden is established because although one might expect the searches to overlap, there is no reason for the searches to be coextensive.

3. Inventions III and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process can be practiced by another apparatus, such as basic forceps in combination with suturing thread. Additionally, the apparatus can be used for another process such as measuring the size of an internal organ in the body.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. The burden is established because although one might expect the searches to overlap, there is no reason for the searches to be coextensive.

A telephone call was made to Brian Schar on March 5, 2004 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Bradford C Pantuck whose telephone number is (703) 305-8621. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 8:30-5:00.
